Summer Advantage USA Hosts Job Fairs for Teacher Interviews on April 13-15

-Program approved as a professional development provider for Indiana teachers-

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. – Summer Advantage USA, a national non-profit organization providing children with accelerated summer learning programs focused on academics and enrichment, is pleased to announce that it will hold several job fairs to focus on interviews for academic teachers, enrichment teachers and teacher's assistants.

The job fairs will take place at the following locations:

- Angola, Ind. - Tuesday, April 13
- Indianapolis, Ind. - Wednesday, April 14
- Orleans, Ind. - Thursday, April 15

Individuals interested in being interviewed for the Summer Advantage USA program at any of the above locations must register immediately in order to receive an invitation. To register and review job descriptions, please visit the Summer Advantage USA Web site at www.summeradvantage.org and click on the Careers tab.

Summer Advantage USA has recently been approved by the Indiana Department of Education as a professional development provider for Indiana teachers. The program's education staff is eligible to earn professional development points towards their license renewal requirements. The Summer Advantage Professional Learning Program includes training on topics such as child development, classroom management, differentiated instruction, mentoring, team building and planning.

Summer Advantage USA operates on the premise that summer learning provides children with academics plus enrichment, such as the arts, engineering and technology, health and fitness and community service. The organization works to connect children with experienced educators and adult mentors, and engages parents more deeply in the education of their children.

About Summer Advantage USA

Summer Advantage USA is a national non-profit organization providing elementary and middle school students with research-based summer learning programs focused on academic gains. Summer Advantage USA was launched in January 2009 with the support of the Mind Trust and offers summer learning programs encompassing literacy, mathematics, science and extracurricular enrichment. It offers a replicable "locally-owned" model and strives to institutionalize that model by impacting public policy.
